

HAWAIIAN DEBATE IS STILL GOING ON

SENATE CONTINUES THE DISCUSSION.

Mr. Lodge Makes An Impassioned Appeal For the Maintenance Of the Little Republic—Judge Ricks Not To Be Impeached—The Proceedings In the House.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 23.—In the senate yesterday Mr. Allen (pop., Neb.) presented a large bunch of petitions from citizens of Alabama claiming they were deprived of a republican form of government and asking the intervention of congress.

This cleared the decks for the renewal of the debate over Hawaii. The subject came up on Mr. Kyle's resolution, which is one expressing general disapproval of the senate in the action of the administration by withdrawing warships from Hawaii. Mr. Gray (dem., Del.) vigorously defended the action of the administration. The Samoan question was unexpectedly interjected into the debate. Mr. Gray referred to the fact that the United States was now bound by international agreement to keep a barbarous king in power in Samoa. It would not do to declaim against a barbarous queen when we were at the same time protecting and maintaining such a king.

Mr. George declared that the Hawaiian government was republican only in form. It was a government of force. It had been established by force and was now maintained by force.

Mr. Lodge said the British influence was back of the royalist element in Hawaii. "The arms used in this uprising were bought by an Englishman," declared Mr. Lodge. "They were shipped in a British ship from a Canadian port. The insurrectionists were largely Englishmen." It was no longer a question of the new or the old government of Hawaii, but a question of maintaining American interests in Hawaii. Mr. Lodge closed with an impassioned protest against pulling down the American flag when it had once been raised.

Mr. Kyle gave figures from the latest Hawaiian year book showing the many millions of American capital invested in Hawaii.

"How much of that is held by one man—Claus Spreckels?" asked Mr. Gray. Mr. Kyle did not have the figures as to Spreckels.

This closed the Hawaiian debate for the day and the senate proceeded to the consideration of the Nicaragua canal bill, Mr. Turpie speaking against the project. Mr. Turpie had not concluded when at 4:30 p. m. the senate held a short executive session and then adjourned.

WILL CALL ON CARLISLE.

Chairman of Ways and Means Subcommittee to Do Bidding.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 23.—Representative McMillin, chairman of the ways and means sub-committee to which the beer tax question has been referred, intends seeing Secretary Carlisle to-day to learn whether the secretary considers an increase of the government's revenues necessary.

There is a possibility of an effort to secure financial legislation in the senate through an amendment of one of the appropriation bills to be acted upon by the committee on appropriations. A canvas of the senate has convinced the leaders on both sides of the chamber that the conflict between the silver men and the bond men renders it next to impossible to secure the passage of any independent financial or currency measure.

It is understood that the republican senators will not oppose an amendment which simply grants authority for an issue of bonds. They say that if it becomes absolutely necessary to provide additional money for the government expenditures and for the maintenance of the gold reserve the democrats can provide it by agreeing to a bond amendment without weighing it down with other questions and that a majority of the republicans will accept it in this shape, but will not permit it to go through if coupled with either silver legislation or the repeal of the state bank tax.

RICKS IS ALL RIGHT.

Scheme to Impeach the Judge Proves a Failure.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 23.—The attempt to impeach Judge Augustus J. Ricks of Cleveland failed yesterday in the house judiciary committee by an adverse vote of 9 to 7, and instead of a resolution for impeachment, which, Mr. Bailey of Texas had prepared to report to the house, one will be presented, denouncing the fee system which, in the opinion of members, has made the proceedings possible. Judge Ricks gave a personal explanation to the committee of the accounts in the Birdsall cases, which he had handled as clerk of the court and which furnished ground for the investigation, and testimony was given against him by Martin W. Sanders, who had been his deputy clerk and succeeded to the clerkship when Judge Ricks was promoted to the bench. The day's review of the case, which was of a bitter and acrimonious character, changed the opinion of no member of the committee, and the charges were ignored. The case was made largely a party question, although Judge

Ricks had four democratic votes, and as the next congress is strongly republican there is no probability that it will be revived.

Sugar Cases in the Supreme Court.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 23.—The cases of Elverson L. Chapman and John S. Shriver, two of the witnesses who refused to answer the questions put to them by the senate sugar trust investigating committee last summer, and were indicted by the local courts for such refusal, yesterday reached the United States Supreme court. There was no intimation by the court as to when a decision would be rendered in the motions.

Pooling Bill Reported.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 23.—The pooling bill was favorably reported to the senate yesterday by Mr. Butler (dem., S. C.) upon which Mr. Chandler stated the report was not unanimous and gave notice that when the bill was taken up he would offer an amendment concerning the submission of freight and passenger rates to the interstate commerce commission. Friends of the bill are uneasy at the opposition that is being manifested.

For a National Park at Gettysburg.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 23.—In the house yesterday Mr. Sickles (dem., N. Y.) called up and had passed the bill to establish a national military park at Gettysburg, Pa. The bill carries an appropriation of $100,000.

The house then went into committee of the whole and resumed consideration of the Indian appropriation bill. After some minor amendments the bill was passed. Adjourned.

Amended Labor Bill Is Reported.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 23.—The amended bill for the settlement of labor disputes by means of an arbitration committee has been reported from the committee on labor with a few minor changes in verbiage. Appended to the report were letters of approval received by the committee from Samuel Gompers, John W. Hayes, H. C. Denning and J. H. Sovereign.

AIDS THE MEAT MEN.

Bill Is Offered to Remove the Foreign Embargo.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 23.—Chairman Wilson yesterday presented formally the favorable report from the ways and means committee on the bill introduced by him at the request of Secretary Gresham repealing the discriminating duty of one tenth of a cent per pound on all sugar, both raw and refined, imported from countries which pay bounty on sugar exports. In presenting the report the committee explained that the repealing bill does not in any way affect the duty of 40 per cent ad valorem on raw sugar or the additional duty of an eighth of a cent a pound on refined sugar. It is believed this action will at once open the way for the removal of the discriminating and prohibition against the entry of our beef and hog product into Germany.

BRIBERY AT DES MOINES.

Rumors of Money Paid Aldermen by a Gas Syndicate.

DES MOINES, Iowa, Jan. 23.—The $1,000 paid to the Saturday Review for the purchase of its silence on the gas question, which was exploited in the city council meeting Monday night was yesterday placed in the hands of a committee of five leading citizens for final disposition. It is probable the grand jury will make an investigation preparatory to criminal proceedings. It is said other sensational developments will follow connecting some of the aldermen who are said to have been bribed in connection with the gas ordinance. It looks as if the penitentiary was in store for somebody.

The Indiana Legislature.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Jan. 23.—In the legislature yesterday a resolution was adopted condemning "every phase of the foreign policy of President Cleveland in relation to the republic of Hawaii; demanding that the United States keep a man-of-war at the islands, and favoring annexation at the earliest possible moment." The republican caucus has decided to knock out the scheme for a constitutional convention. Senator Cameron's congressional apportionment bill is based on the vote of 1888, gives the republicans seven congressmen and the democrats six.

Mexico Ready for War.

CITY OF MEXICO, Jan. 23.—After a stormy cabinet meeting President Diaz notified Guatemala, through its minister, that he would not concede one iota and that Guatemala would have to give in to Mexico's demand or suffer the consequence. War is expected to be declared within a week. Mexico has been preparing for war for some time, and has 12,000 troops on the border. All the officers that have not been on active duty have been notified to report for marching orders.

Populist Senator Elected.

RALEIGH, N. C., Jan. 23.—By joint ballot in the legislature yesterday Marion Butler, populist, was elected to succeed M. W. Ransom in the United States senate. J. C. Pritchard, republican, was elected by the same vote to fill out the unexpired term of the late Senator Vance.

"Teddy" Solomon Dies in London.

LONDON, Jan. 23.—Edward Solomon, the composer, at one time the husband of Lillian Russell, the comic opera singer, died yesterday of typhoid fever.

QUIET AT BROOKLYN
BUT DAFGER GREAT

NO DEMONSTRATION OF LAWLESSNESS THIS MORNING.

While All Was Quiet the Backbone Of the Strike Has Not Been Broken By Any Manner Of Means—Bullets Were Sent Into The Mob Yesterday.

BROOKLYN, Jan. 23.—All is quiet today but the backbone of the strike is far from being broken. A company of the Seventh regiment fired point blank into a mob at 11:30 last night at the Halsey street stables in Brooklyn. Two men fell, one mortally wounded and the other with a wound of a severe nature. One of the wounded men was a car starter, it is reported, on his way to the stables. The other was not employed by the company and was also a non-striker. The wounded men were taken to a hospital.

The day otherwise was one of comparative quiet, with here and there a slight scrimmage with stones and sticks, with a motorman or conductor slightly damaged, and numerous gatherings of strikers scattered by militia and police as they were caught in the act of pulling down trolley wires. Two or three shots were reported fired by soldiers of the Seventh regiment, chiefly to intimidate people who were making threatening demonstrations from windows. Capt. Wilson of the Second battery, First brigade, sent to New York for grape and cannister. Later on Gen. Fitzgerald telephoned to this city for additional field weapons. Those are precautionary measures. Two hundred reserves from the Ninth, Seventy-first and Twelfth regiments went to Brooklyn from New York yesterday.

Master Workman Connelly has ordered the linemen out. He says this action has been necessitated by the action of the soldiers yesterday, when a company of the Seventh regiment surrounded the hall at Myrtle avenue and Palmetto street. A squad entered the hall, seized the books and papers of the local assembly, which has its headquarters there. Master Workman Connelly says this is the reason for the strike of the linemen.

At 3 o'clock in the afternoon cars were started on the Gates avenue line. Two shots were fired, one by a policeman and another by a national guardsman, to enforce the order issued by the police authorities to keep every window closed along the line of the road. No serious obstacle to their progress was encountered.

During the afternoon and evening there occurred no less than seven collisions of trolley cars with wrgons, trucks or other vehicles.

The employment of new men by the railroad companies is going on slowly. There is no question the majority of the people are in sympathy with the strikers in their efforts to secure better terms from the railroad companies, and there are plans being discussed by citizens at meetings and private conferences by which it is hoped to bring the railroads to terms, or at any rate to provide for the better protection of the men in the future.

Adj. Gen. McAlpin came down from Albany last night and went to Brooklyn by order of Gov. Morton. He made an investigation into the conditions there, and will return to Albany to report to the governor. The Third brigade, with headquarters in Albany, was assembled yesterday, but no orders for moving on Brooklyn have yet been promulgated. It will be held in readiness. The railroad officials say the situation has passed beyond that of a railroad strike, and has reached a point where it is a question of whether men who are willing to work can be protected from violence by others who do not desire to have them.

Steamer May Have Gone Down.

CHICAGO, Jan. 23.—The steamer Chicora, which left Milwaukee Monday morning before the great gale set in, had not reached St. Joseph, Mich., at a late hour last night. Telegrams to every point along the shores of Lake Michigan, from which the Chicora might be sighted, brought the reply that it had not been sighted. Little hope for the safety of the boat is entertained by Chicago and Milwaukee marine men. Along the docks it is generally believed the boat has succumbed to the terrific gale of Monday and gone to the bottom. There are twenty-five persons on board.

The Minnesota Senatorship.

ST. PAUL, Minn., Jan. 23.—On the surface the results of the first ballot in the legislature for United States senator yesterday did not materially change the situation as left at the adjournment of the republican caucus Friday night, but underneath the outcome was significant. Nelson received a total of sixty-two, a gain of two, which inspired his friends with fresh confidence, while Washburn's vote was fifty-four, a loss of one.

Blown From A Ladder and Killed.

PRINCETON, Ill., Jan. 23.—The high wind storm of Monday and yesterday caused one fatality and much damage to property in Bureau and Putnam counties. In this city Oscar Peterson was blown from a ladder while repairing a lamp post and instantly killed. The First Baptist church and other buildings were considerably damaged.

The cold made cracks appear in the black pavement last night.

STATE FUNDS USED
BUT NO REPORT

LABOR COMMISSIONER DOBBS TO BE INVESTIGATED.

Bills Introduced Today Providing For County Workhouses, and Uniform Legislation On Divorce, Marriage and Business Forms—Corrupt Practices In State Elections.

MADISON, Jan. 23.—Senator Timme sprung on the senate this morning a surprise in a bill for auditing the contingent expense of the labor commissioners, and a resolution for the examination of Commissioner Dobbs' accounts. Dobbs has rendered no accounts, and has used all the money provided for expenses. Among the important bills introduced were those providing for county work houses for vagrants; forbidding corrupt practices in elections; and several bills for the purpose of making the state law conform to those of neighboring states on marriage, divorce, bankruptcy and other important matters.

An innovation has been started by the new administration and Governor Uoham has formed a cabinet. It consists of all the elective state officers, and beginning tomorrow cabinet meetings will be held in the executive chamber every Wednesday morning. The idea that prompted was to bring the various state officers in closer touch, one with another, and to discuss together question of party policy and the general good of the administration.

HAYWARD CASE GOES ON SLOWLY

Only Three Men Were Secured By Three Days' Work

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., Jan. 23.—When the trial of Harry Hayward opened yesterday morning, before the regular business of examining jurors was taken up, W. W. Erwin made a statement denying the story that had been circulated that Hayward was implicated in an attempt to escape from jail. At 4:30, when court adjourned, forty-nine men had been examined out of a special venire and only three jurors had been selected. Then Attorney Erwin made a strong plea to have the others on the list excused, saying they were "professionals" and were not competent to decide the matter. Judge Smith accordingly dismissed all the jurors on the panel, and a new one of fifty was ordered drawn, which will be brought into requisition this morning.

The questioning of many of the jurors as to their belief in the insanity plea and other metaphysical and physical questions indicates strongly what the line of defense is to be. Yesterday Adry Hayward was released from his confinement in the Ramsey county jail and brought to this city by one of Sheriff Holmberg's deputies. Upon his arrival here he was taken direct to the county jail, where he held a conference with the sheriff. It is supposed he will now remain in this city during the trial, in which he is one of the most important witnesses.

ATTEMPT TO BLOW UP A HOME

Part of the Building Wrecked by Dynamite at Sault Ste. Marie.

SAULT STE. MARIE, Mich., Jan. 23.—An attempt was made to blow up the Rescue Home of the King's Sons and Daughters at an early hour yesterday morning. Dynamite was used, and the rear end of the building was demolished. There is no clew to the perpetrators of the work. It was evidently the intention to injure Evangelist Whitaker, who was thought to live there, but he is living across the street. Whitaker has succeeded in weeding out the dives and has made himself obnoxious to the tough element.

Trial of Dr. E. L. Finley for Murder.

OTTAWA, Ill., Jan. 23.—The trial of Dr. E. L. Finley of Streator, one of the most prominent young physicians of LaSalle county, for the alleged murder of Mrs. Clara B. Heath of Farm Ridge was commenced in the Circuit court Monday afternoon. The jury was obtained in the case and at the opening of court yesterday morning the opening statements were made and the introduction of testimony commenced. The line of defense will be that Mrs. Heath really caused her own death and that the doctor was not responsible. The case will be finished probably to-day.

President Kingsland Has Gone.

WINONA, Minn., Jan. 23.—J. F. Kingsland, president of the Bank of St. Charles, closed recently under order of State Bank Examiner Kenyon, has left with his wife for parts unknown. The bank had 152 depositors and held in trust funds to the amount of $65,000. It is alleged Kingsland overdraw his account to the extent of $27,000 and that before his departure he offered 10 per cent for money. A widow hearing of this loaned him $3,000 she had received as life insurance. Now money and interest are both gone.

Think He Is the Henshaw Murderer.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Jan. 23.—"Bun" Nichols, residing near Stilesville, was arrested yesterday on suspicion of being implicated in the Belleville tragedy Jan. 10, when the Rev. W. E. Henshaw and wife had the fatal fight with burglars resulting in the death of Mrs. Henshaw. The revolver with which the shooting was done was found. The weapon belonged to Mr. Henshaw.

INCOME TAX STANDS
FIRE AT MILWAUKEE

The Suit Thrown Out of Court at Washington.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 22.—The Moore income tax suit was thrown out of court this morning but will be appealed to the supreme court.

SHIPS SENT TO HAWAII

nger, Albert and Boston Dispatched This Morning.

VALLEJO, Cal., Jan. 22.—Orders were received this morning dispatching the Ranger, Albert and Boston to Honolulu.

HAYWARD INDIGNANT.

His Attorney Declares that He Frustrated the Attempted Jail Delivery.

MINNEAPOLIS, Jan. 23.—Harry Hayward was indignant when he was brought into the court room yesterday. His attorneys were also indignant and Mr. Erwin lost no time in letting the court know the state of their feelings. It was all due to a story printed in a morning paper with reference to a recently attempted jail delivery. The sheriff had discovered a carefully planned conspiracy among the prisoners in the county jail for a midnight delivery. It had proceeded so far that a fine set of tools had been procured and six rivets taken out of the bars in a protected portion of the cage. The plan was to get through the cage, overpower the single night watchman and escape, but the suspicions of the sheriff were aroused and he caused a search of the cells to be made. The discovery of the tools frustrated the plan. The paper which published an account of the affair endeavored to connect Harry Hayward with the plot to escape and ascribed to him the leadership of the whole affair.

KILLS HIS TWO CHILDREN.

Horrible Crime of Edward Rivers, a Morphine Fiend.

HENDERSON, Ky., Jan. 23.—Edward Rivers, living near Brownsville, Edmondson county, killed his two children, a boy of 6 and a girl of 8 years, and fired a bullet into his own brain. Rivers was addicted to the habitual use of morphine and labored under the delusion that his family, if allowed to live, would become hopelessly insane. At the time of the tragedy his wife was absent from home on a visit and upon her return the spectacle threw her into convulsions, from which she may not recover.

Folklore Convention.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Jan. 23.—A convention of folklore students from all over the country opened here to-day under the auspices of the Tennessee branch of the American Folklore society. At to-day's session papers were read by Prof. Jones, president of the Tennessee branch; Clara Conway, one of the most prominent educators in the south; Frederick W. Gookins of Chicago, and Mrs. Watson of this city.

Stilson Hutchins Gets $225,000.

NEW YORK, Jan. 23.—The suit of Stilson Hutchins against the National Typographic company for commission payments due him for the negotiation of the type setting machine patents for England in 1889 has been settled by the award of $225,000 to Mr. Hutchins. Mr. Hutchins was elected a member of the board of directors.

Diaz to Lead the Army.

CITY OF MEXICO, Mexico, Jan. 23.—An interesting story in circulation regarding the probable outbreak of war between Guatemala and Mexico is to the effect that Gen. Diaz, president of the Mexican republic, will take command of the forces on the frontier in person.

Sale of Railway Property in Ohio.

CINCINNATI, Ohio, Jan. 23.—The Commercial Gazette says that the Cincinnati, Lebanon & Northern railway has been sold to the Cincinnati, Jackson & Mackinaw railroad, which gives the Brice-Tinnas syndicate an entrance to Cincinnati.

Tragedy at Newburyport, Mass.

NEWBURYPORT, Mass., Jan. 23.—Thomas E. Hersey, aged 33 years, attempted to murder his sweetheart, Emma Ellery, by shooting her. He then fired a bullet through his own brain, dying soon after he had been taken to the hospital. The young woman will die.

Casimir-Perier to Get a Divorce.

PARIS, Jan. 23.—The causes that led to the resignation of M. Casimir-Perier are now known. The ex-president is said to be on the point of seeking to obtain a divorce from Mme. Casimir-Perier, and the causes for this are already of quite a long standing.

Censures Omaha for Lynching.

LINCOLN, Neb., Jan. 23.—In the house yesterday an exciting debate occurred over a resolution severely condemning the citizens of Omaha for the lynching of the negro George Smith at the court house in Omaha Oct. 10, 1891. The resolution was adopted by a vote of 75 to 12.

Conlon Sticks to His Story.

HAWESVILLE, Ky., Jan. 23.—Capt. Conlon of the lost State of Missouri reiterates his story that no lives were lost in the disaster. He insists there were only nine passengers on board. It is still claimed, however, that three are still unaccounted for.

FIRE AT MILWAUKEE
WILL COST $45,000BIG FACTORY WIPED OUT
EARLY THIS MORNING

Hatch Cutlery Company's Large Plant Totally Destroyed Despite the Departments' Hard Work—The Insurance Is $31,500—Bad Blaze At Charleston, S. C.

MILWAUKEE, Jan. 23.—Fire did $45,000 damage to the Hatch Cutlery Company's works at South Milwaukee at 2 o'clock this morning. When the department reached the scene the roof of the main building had fallen in and only the boiler house and corner tower stood intact; but they also succumbed in a short time, as by 3 o'clock the whole of the works were reduced to ashes and cinders. The insurance is $31,500.

CHARLESTON, S. C., Jan. 23.—The store of A. S. Thomlinson & Co. and a clothing store adjoining were destroyed by fire. The Exchange bank building was also damaged. The loss is $150,000, partly insured.

CULLOM IS ELECTED.

Illinois Legislature Chooses a United States Senator.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Jan. 23.—Senator Cullom was elected as his own successor in the "upper house" of congress yesterday. To-day the house and senate meets in joint session and the vote will be declared. That will end the senatorial election. The vote was as follows: Senate—Cullom, 32; MacVeagh, 12; absent, 8. House—Cullom, 90; MacVeagh, 60; absent, 3.

SENATOR CULLOM.

ILLINOIS LEGISLATURE.

Routine Proceedings of Upper and Lower Houses.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Jan. 23.—Senator Johnson informed the senate of the death in Lieutenant Governor Gill's family and offered a resolution of sympathy, which was unanimously adopted. A recess was then taken.

A message was received in the house from Gov. Altgeld regarding the recent destruction of the insane hospital at Anna. The governor recommends an emergency appropriation for rebuilding the hospital. He thinks $190,000 sufficient to put up a fireproof structure. The governor also recommends that one of the institution for the insane be set aside for the use of epileptics and hopelessly insane persons. Mr. Pickrell of Union introduced an emergency bill calling for an appropriation of $190,000 to rebuild the burnt portion of the insane hospital at Anna. Mr. Noling introduced a bill to prevent pool-selling. Mr. Crafts introduced a bill to organize and extend park districts.

The house will probably adjourn to-morrow night until Monday, the use of the hall of representatives having been given to the Bar association. The committees will probably be sent into the house and senate to-morrow.

CRUSADE ON BLIND POOLS.

Pittsburg Managers Arrested for Using the Mails to Defraud.

PITTSBURG, Pa., Jan. 23.—The government has taken a hand in the crusade against the blind pools. James W. Dudgeon, Pittsburg manager of the Traders' syndicate of Chicago, and F. A. Devlin, manager of the American Syndicate pool, have been arrested on warrants charging them with using the United States mail to carry on a scheme to defraud. The information was made by Postoffice Inspector Hugh J. Gorman and the warrants were served by a deputy United States marshal. Dudgeon's bail was fixed at $1,000 and Devlin's at $2,500. There has been a run on the American and Traders' syndicates, but the depositors have received no satisfaction.

Prohibition is Now Resubmitted.

PIERRE, S. D., Jan. 23.—The great resubmission fight was practically decided yesterday by a triumph of the majority report of the committee recommending that the bill pass. The vote stood 26 to 19. The prohibitory law has been tried for five years and this measure gives the people a chance to say what they think of it.

Debs Will Be Released To-morrow.

CHICAGO, Jan. 23.—Eugene V. Debs and his fellow officers of the American Railway Union will not secure their liberty under the order of the Supreme court until they are brought into the United States Circuit court to-morrow morning to answer to the charge of conspiracy. Trial of the conspiracy cases will be commenced at once.

A POSTMASTER'S JOB IS NOT AN EASY ONE

MUST BE A MIND READER, ASTROLOGER AND JUGGLER.

Four Classes Of People Have To Be Dealt With—Untamped Letters and Packages Make Much Trouble—Money and Blank Envelopes in Mail Boxes.

If you look in any political dictionary in the country you will find the word "post office" defined as "a pie; a plum; a snap; or a pudding." But don't pin your faith to it. There is a general opinion that all a postmaster has to do is to sign the receipts for his salary and read all the postal cards that go through his hands. This is not the case. There's no more complicated job in Janesville than running the post office and four classes of people have to be dealt with. They are:

- No. 1—Folks who are all right.
- No. 2—Folks who are ignorant.
- No. 3—Folks who are forgetful.
- No. 4—Folks who are mean.

These are the classifications that are made by Postmaster Wilson. The first class cause but little trouble and when they do make a complaint or a mistake it can be readily adjusted. The second class are open for instruction while the third may have their memories jogged occasionally with good effect, but the third—

Well a mean man is always mean and you can't make him otherwise.

Packages Go Astray.

The uncertainty with which packages are tied up and mailed, more especially during the holiday season, with faulty address or no address at all, and simply bound up with one strand of white cord. The first time another package runs against them the cover or the string breaks, and when the package is taken from the bag no address can be found. This failing of frail humanity was illustrated in the Janesville office in the form of a package that came from Stevens Point. It was a pasteboard box, wrapped in one thickness of thin manilla paper and tied up with one strand of wrapping twine. When it arrived in Janesville it was crushed flat and no address could be found. Another package came from Buffalo. It was sent here from that city with the following letter:

Postmaster—Janesville, Wis., Dear Sir:—The enclosed package was found in the mails of this office with a portion of the address destroyed. Will you refer it to the jeweler, whose name appears on the box, and ascertain if he knows to whom it belongs? Respectfully,

H. H. BAKER,
Postmaster, Inq. D. W.

The package consisted of a pasteboard thread box tied with string, inside of which was found a box from F. C. Cook & Company's store, containing a nice gold ring. Postmaster Wilson had the box taken to Cook & Company in hopes that they could tell who sent the package, but they replied that they had not used boxes like the one that held the ring in several years, so they could throw no light on the matter. The package had no address on it but was returned to Buffalo and from there, doubtless, forwarded to the dead letter office. If people would write their own names and address on all packages or letters mailed, the trials of the post office authorities would be greatly lessened.

One of the chief causes of the insomnia of the post office officials is the mailing of letters and packages without stamps. The ignorant man thinks that the letters or packages will be forwarded and the postage collected at the "other end."

Class Postage Must Be Paid.

Sometimes, perhaps, he has received a letter bearing the stamp "2 cents due" and remembered it after he had paid the postage. From this he reasons that if he doesn't have a stamp handy, he can let the other fellow pay the freight. That's where he is mistaken. The rules provide that in order to forward a piece of mail that has not been properly prepaid, the package or letter shall have affixed the proper stamp for that class of mail. For instance a sealed letter, with a one-cent stamp on it would not be forwarded but if it bore a two-cent stamp, the proper stamp for first class matter, and the required postage was four cents the letter would be forwarded with the "two cent due" stamp on it. A letter or package that has no stamp on it is never forwarded under any circumstances. The forgetful man takes it as a matter of course, when his mail fails to be delivered and doesn't remember whether he mailed the letter or not but the mean man, who writes to a friend asking for a loan and lets the friend pay the postage, curses and swears and perhaps writes to the first assistant postmaster general. Then if the rules are not changed, he registers a mental vow never to vote for the party that is in power again and prepares to see the country go to smash. Large numbers of untamped letters and packages are mailed and sometimes the owner can be found and sometimes he can't, but whether he is or not it makes much trouble for the postal authorities.

Money in the Mail Boxes.

Another class of people make trouble by putting letters without stamps, it to the mail boxes. Perhaps a woman writes a letter at home and when she comes to seal it up she finds that there are no stamps in the house. Then she reasons it out. She figures that her husband would carry the letter in his pocket for a week or two, perhaps, before he remembered to mail it, and to get a stamp she would have to walk down town. Then a bright idea strikes her.

"I'll just put the letter in the box with two cents, and John Gleason will know that it's my letter and he'll put on the stamp for me," she says, and suits the action to the idea.

The next time the carrier comes around he is greeted with a smile, as the lady of the house thinks about what a favor the man in the grey uniform has done her. She doesn't realize that the letter is still lying in the post-office, owing to the fact that the authorities are unable to tell which of the half dozen or more untamped letters found in the box, is entitled to the stamp. Once Postmaster Wilson decided this point by putting the stamp on the first letter taken from the box but this rule was abandoned after the first application. Although Janesville has had the free delivery system for several years, and the postal regulations can be easily ascertained, the practice of mailing untamped letters and money for the postage is still a common habit.

ORANGE DEALERS UNEASY

Report of Possible Damage to the California Crop.

A little flurry of snow out in the mountains of California the other day has caused a great deal of anxiety among fruit dealers. The orange crop out on the Pacific coast will be ready for the packers early next

WHEAT, FLOUR AND BREAD FOR TEN YEARS.

By looking at the above diagram you may learn the relative prices of wheat, flour and bread for the last ten years. At present flour such as is used by bakers costs something like $2.50 per barrel of 196 pounds. From this a baker will manufacture about 250 loaves of bread at 18 ounces per loaf. At 5 cents a loaf this would make $12.50 gross on the barrel. Allowing $2.50 for the flour and $5 a barrel for the baking and other expenses this would leave a net profit of $5 a barrel on every barrel of flour used by the baker bakers.

month, and just at this time is susceptible to frost. California oranges have been in this market for a week or more, but the fruit was picked green and has been ripened by the sweating process, the same as bananas are ripened. Fruit of this kind are held by the commission men at $3 to $3.75 a box, and navel or seedless oranges from California, ripened in the same way, are held at $3.75 and $4 a box. The stock on hand is very limited, and higher prices would be charged were it not that hard times have played havoc with the demand.

If ripe oranges are to all purposes out of the market for the year. Some of the local houses have a few boxes on hand purchased before the "killing frost," which are held at high prices. The demand for this fruit is extremely light, and the demand, small as it is, appears to be adequate.

AFTON WOODMEN INSTALLED.

Ceremonies Were Open to the Public, and Watched with Interest.

AFTON, Jan. 22.—The public installation of M. W. A. officials in Afton camp No. 2192, held at Lawton's hall last Friday evening, was a decided success. The installation ceremonies were conducted by John A. Love, clerk of Beloit camp No. 348, and were watched with interest by the large assemblage present. At the conclusion the following programme followed: Song, "The Woodmen's Jubilee Song," M. W. A. quartette. Address, "Woodcraft," John A. Love. Recitation, "School Girl Experience," Miss Kittie Watts. Recitation, "Launching of the Ship," Miss Sarah Drafa. Address, "Our Ladies," J. B. Humphrey. Song, "The Brave Old Oak," quartette. Poem, "Our Visitors," U. G. Waite. Address, "Our Goat," F. P. Starr. Recitation, "The Wreck of the Hebe," Miss Anna L. Tank. Neighbor James E. Matthews, a member of Florence Camp No. 366 Janesville, was called on for a song and it pleased the audience to such a degree that he had to respond to two encores. At the conclusion of the program refreshments were served to all present. A goodly delegation came down from Janesville, some of the neighbors being accompanied by their wives. Representatives from Shopiere Camp were also present. Members of Afton Camp have reason to feel proud of this, their first public installation. Following is a roster of the officers for the ensuing year: venerable consul, J. B. Humphrey; worthy adviser, G. S. Otis; excellent banker, William Brinkman; clerk, A. R. Waite; escort, W. M. Kleber; watchman, J. W. Seales; sentry, Peter Drafa.

Carbolized Kisses Not Desirable.

A medical authority writes to a Niagara Falls paper to suggest that those who kiss should first sponge the lips with diluted carbolized acid. The majority of kisses are "sponged" anyway, but the carbolized kiss can never be introduced except as a punishment.

FATHER BOWE TO GO FROM EDGERTON

CHANGE WILL PROBABLY BE MADE VERY SOON.

There May Be a Conference Before Definite Steps Are Taken But It Is Reported That the Transfer Has Been Determined Upon—Dean McGinnity Reticent.

After squabbles, law suits and fist fights Edgerton Catholics are likely to have a new priest. Rev. Father Bowe will, in all probability be called to another charge and the war will be forgotten. The arrangements are not yet complete and Father Bowe may be called to Milwaukee tomorrow for a conference.

Representatives of Archbishop Kater have been in Edgerton during the last ten days looking into affairs and getting the facts of the Ford-Bow controversy. Ford is an active Catholic and has a good many Catholic friends who take his side. This has divided the Edgerton church into factions and hindered its work. When the street fight occurred a few days ago the need of prompt action was manifest, the diocesan authorities feeling that such sensations had anything but a good effect. It is said that a

NEVER WORE MITTENS UNTIL NOW.

Mo. Harris Found Janesville Frigidity Too Frightful for Him.

"Uncle" Mo. Harris stood rubbing his hands near the stove in the cozy waiting room of the Chicago & Northwestern railway this morning, waiting for the south bound passenger.

"This is the first time in my life I ever wore mittens," said he to a reporter. "I started for the depot this morning, and before I had gone far I discovered my fingers had cracked open and were bleeding from the cold, so I turned back and bought my first pair of mittens. I never wore a pair of gloves or overshoes, either."

"Perhaps you have been accustomed to a warmer climate than this?" suggested the reporter.

"Well, I have spent several winters in Minnesota," he answered, "but the cold this morning took right hold of me. I never felt such penetrating cold up in Minnesota when the thermometers registered 30 degrees below zero."

GOSSIP FROM THE COUNTY

Women Only Ask Recognition.

The Pomona Grange held a lively discussion at its last meeting at the Barker's Corners hall, which proved very interesting to the ladies and quite alarming to the gentlemen. "Woman's Suffrage" was the topic. The ladies decided that whatever the Lord made woman capable of doing was sure proof that he intended she should do it if she wanted to. But they didn't want to vote half as bad as they wanted to make the men own up that they knew enough to vote, and that they were willing they should do so.

Wedding at East Center.

A wedding that was not wholly a surprise took place at Center on Monday evening Jan. 14. The contracting parties were Edson Brown and Miss Avis Savage. About dusk they might have been seen going towards Rev. Goodacre's residence, where they were quietly married, intending to keep it a secret from their friends, but it leaked out as all such things will and now congratulations are in order. Mr. Brown is a son of Mr. and Mrs. George Brown of Center while the bride is teaching the Center school and is from Cooksville.

Revels at Barker's Corners.

The latter day saints have been holding meetings at the Barker's Corners grange hall the past two weeks while Rev. Thayer has been holding a series of revival meetings at the United Brethren church.

Insane Patients Entertained.

Sociables and parties are given for the amusement of the inmates of the county insane asylum every two weeks and all who attend have jolly good times, they say.

Revival is Bearing Fruit.

The revival meetings at North Johnstown are still going on with quite an interest. Eight people have decided to live a better life and the interest is still increasing.

Grange to Install Officers.

The Janesville Grange will meet at the Barker's Corners hall, next Thursday, to install officers and dinner will be served at noon.

Money Is Just as Good

Now as it ever was in the purchase of a farm. If you don't have a house to put in exchange toward payment for a farm we shall be glad to sell you a good 80 acre farm for cash payment of one third its value and wait on you for the balance as long as you can reasonably wish. Right along side this farm we own another 80 acres so that you can buy 160 acres if you desire, or if that is too deep for you to go in debt we will sell you the 80 and rent you for a term of years the other 80. We are here to do good and will do you good any way you can fairly ask us to do it. Anyway, cash sale or an; exchange its a cinch for you. Call around and talk. Yours Very Truly, GEO. L. & SARAH H. NO MONEY IN BREAD AT RULING PRICES

JANESVILLE BAKERS NOT GETTING VERY RICH.

There Was a Liberal Share Of Profit In the Five Cent Loaves With Flour At Current Figures, But Most Of This Has Been Knocked Out.

Where is the money in bread at current Janesville prices? Ordinary calculators figure 3 1/2 cents a loaf, just a little better than slow starvation for the baker man and sure bankruptcy for the man who trusts him for flour. There is a profit however, and the figures show what a loss the housewife encounters when she bakes two loaves at a time.

Not long ago bread was selling in Janesville at five cents a loaf. There is money in it that price—enough so that new bakeries have been starting in the last few weeks, and a lively bread war begun.

The accompanying table shows where the profit on five cent bread came in. The table was prepared for Chicago, and local bakers say it is wrong in one respect—the cost of flour. The flour used in Janesville bread costs $3.30 a barrel instead of $2.50, they declare. One baker working full time will use a barrel of flour a day, and will turn out 250 loaves. Between the Chicago table and local figures there is a difference, therefore, of eighty cents on a day's output. The actual profit on 250 loaves of five cent bread in Janesville has been $1.20 instead of $5 as the table gives it.

At 3 1/2 cents a loaf the profit shrinks so as to be hardly perceptible to the naked eye.

The barrel of flour costs $3.30 just as before.

All the other expenses are the same—baker, $2; rent, 50 cents; wagon and wagonman, $1.50 per day; yeast, 25 cents; fire and other incidental expenses 75 cents.

This makes the total cost $8.30 and the total receipts from 250 loaves at 3 1/2 cents foot up $8.75. Forty-five cents profit, and this is very likely to disappear when a percentage is deducted for loss. No, at 3 1/2 cents a loaf Janesville bakers are not coining money.

JUNCTION BABES' SUDDEN DEATH

Membranous Croup Did Its Work in Two Days—Other News.

MILTON JUNCTION, Jan. 22.—Mr. and Mrs. George Bullis are called to mourn the loss of their little son Roy, aged twenty-one months, who died of membranous croup. Every thing that medical skill could do was done for the little sufferer but it was without avail. He was sick only two days. The funeral was held Monday. Mr. and Mrs. Wade Looftborough of Iowa, who have been visiting here for two weeks left for their home Monday. Gage Ainsley is reported to be in very poor health. Mr. Sevy, the jeweler, moved his family into one of Chambers & Owens' houses on the west side, Sunday. They had been occupying a part of Mrs. McCafferty's house. Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Nichols expect to move next week into part of Dr. F. O. Burdick's house. The meetings at the Methodist church will be continued through this week. Mr. and Mrs. George W. Coon visited at George Campbell's, near Stoughton, Friday. Summer Gilbert took a jolly sleigh load of women to A. Allen's Thursday, where they employed the day working for the benevolent society. Professor Charles Crandall has bought a lot of Mrs. Anna Crandall, adjoining his house on Madison avenue, and will build there in the spring. Mr. Hossinger will also build a new house in the spring on his lot, on First and Crandall streets. To any one contemplating building a new home, we would advise them to examine the new residence of Mr. and Mrs. William Morgan, which for convenience, beauty of finish and pleasant outlook is a model home. John Whitford lost a fine cow by choking on a small beet, last week. But a few days ago he lost a horse by sickness. Misfortunes never come singly. Mrs. Dora Butts of Delavan, is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. D. E. Thorpe.

THE MEEK YOUTH.

And His Terrible Revenge on Two Crusty Old Boys.

How a meek and mild-mannered youth of long and slender proportions became revenged through polite generosity was illustrated in a trolley car the other evening. The youth was very tired when he entered the car. He gazed anxiously along both lengths of seats for a place, but none was in inviting evidence. As he was hanging despairingly to a strap, however, two crusty-looking old men, who were sitting side by side in the middle of the car, moved a few inches apart as a begrudging invitation to the weary youth to sit down. He was almost crushed in that narrow space. As he struggled for more freedom the crusty old men turned around so sharply and gave him such a withering look that the heart of the nice young man beat very wildly.

But he was a man of long suffering when he couldn't help himself. The opportunity for revenge came pretty soon. A very robust woman of generous proportions came into the car carrying a huge bundle which almost obscured her vision. All these things the very meek young man saw at a glance. So he very graciously jumped from his seat, and bowing to her said: "Madam accept my seat." "Oh, I thank you," she replied, and her 300 pounds descended into the seat. The crusty old gentlemen were thrown against their neighbors with such force that their teeth chattered. They were furious. They arose in their wrath, casting upon the fat woman and the thin young man a look intended to humble them to the dust, went out on the rear platform and swore. The meek young man smiled sweetly and the fat woman looked happy.

POISONED BULLETS.

A Colored Soldier Tells How He Received a Wound.

The Indians in days primeval, dipped their arrow heads in poison as a more certain method of killing the enemy. In the more modern days when the bullet superseded the arrow the red men did not lose the poisonous art, as Tom Smith, a colored patient in the St. Louis city hospital, will testify. He has a bullet wound in his right leg, which has not healed since he was shot by the Indians, fourteen years ago, while serving as a private in the United States army. "That wuz a pizen bullet them red devils fired, boss," he explained recently, "an' I'll tell you jist how it wuz. Me an' the regiment wuz called fur in New Mexico, fur the Injuns were prowlin' about fearful bad, and tommyhawkin' people and things like that. So we got there and clumb the Raton mountains atter them Injuns. They kept a climbing up the mountain side, and we right atter 'em. An' long the trail everywhere we found a heap of rattlesnakes with their heads cut off. We knowed what that meant. Them Injuns wuz fixin' their pizen, and if a bullet even touched us it would be jist like a rattler had poked his fangs into you. "One day they trapped us. We fit an' fit, an' the white soldiers fell. A little wound killed jist like a big one. Their bodies grew blue, like pizen. As we fit on toward sundown a pain struck me in the leg, right sudden like. My ol' dad had allus said that terbacker wuz good fur snake bites. It wuzn't more an a minute 'fore I'd done chawed and swallowed the whole plug. That plug saved my life. It did, boss, fur certain. But that pizen still burns and keeps me wounded."

One Way to Interpret the Bible.

Much amusement was the other day caused up in an Essex country house by the following document being handed in. It was inscribed on the outside "Moses Bird and Wife's Petition." The scriptures are interpreted in many strange ways, but I do not at this moment remember any "Divine command" which enjoins the production of twin offspring or the wheeling about of these products in a perambulator: "We, Moses Bird and wife, in following the Divine commands, find ourselves unable to buy a perambulator for our twin offspring. Therefore we take the liberty of asking you to help us in our time of need. Thirteen shillings per week is all we have to live on."

Wonderful stories are told about a shell recently invented by Admiral Makaroff of the Russian navy. It is declared that one of these shells fired at a six-inch Harveyized plate at an angle of twenty degrees, passed through the plate and backing and fell 400 yards further on. THE NEW SOUTH.

William H. Edmonds, editor of the Southern State Magazine, published at Baltimore, has an editorial in the current issue on "A National Opportunity," that has the right ring to it, outlining a policy which if adopted, would reconstruct the south, and greatly benefit the nation.

It has been a satisfaction to no one with what generous hearts and willing hands, our southern brothers have come to the relief of suffering humanity in Nebraska. Many carloads of clothing and provisions have recently been forwarded and still the good work goes on. From center to circumference the south has been moved by a spirit of common brotherhood, and a desire to relieve want and destitution.

Mr. Edmonds, looking into the future, discusses what is becoming more painfully apparent every year, that some portions of Kansas, Nebraska and the Dakotas are an arid desert that for many years at least, will fail to yield support to the enterprising, but unfortunate people, who are striving against fate to establish homes.

He suggests that the experiences of this year are likely to be repeated, until this portion of the west becomes dependent.

As a way out of the dilemma he outlines a plan for southern emigration and the cultivation of a productive soil in a congenial climate. The south has an abundance of good land now lying untillied. To this land the attention of a colonization company is invited, with the assurance of prompt returns on the investment and large profits in the future.

"Properly conducted," the promoter declares, "an enterprise of this sort on a scale of sufficient magnitude would be the noblest benefaction of the age, and at the same time one of the most remunerative and profitable channels for the employment of capital. The philanthropist and the charitably disposed could find no object more worthy of their benevolence; persons with money to invest could find no better or more promising avenue for its use, and all who have southern interests could enter into it with not only a reasonable assurance of large profits, but with the certainty that they would receive large indirect benefits through the general enhancement of values and expansion of business consequent upon increased population."

Last Days of Pompeii.

An interesting event in the theatrical world is the forthcoming production of "Pompeii," at Myers Grand Tuesday, January 29. The spectacle is under the direction of B. Lindeman & Company and has enjoyed an especially successful run in the east.

An exchange has the following to say of the production: English Opera House—"Last Days of Pompeii." A large audience was at English's Opera House last night, to witness the initial presentation of John Palmer's classic production, "Last Days of Pompeii." The play is the medium of a splendid display of a spectacular, and the scenic effects employed are in every respect worthy of the effort. The ensemble is good and the utmost care is taken to bring out the positions capable of the best artistic results. The spectacle will be repeated this and tomorrow evenings.—Indianaapolis, (Ind.) Manufacturers Are in Session.

CINCINNATI, Ohio, Jan. 23.—The national convention of manufacturers effected a temporary organization yesterday with Thomas P. Egan as chairman and E. P. Wilson as secretary. Addresses were made by Gov. McKinley and Mayor Caldwell, when the convention proceeded to business. The forenoon was spent in discussing plans for permanent organization and the appointment of committees. The session will continue to-day and tomorrow.

Some People Are Tired

Of city life, and to get on a farm seems to them to be the acme of happiness. Many such people have a little home in the city, and if they could only turn it in toward the payment of a farm they would be happy. We are just the victim they are looking for; we have a very good farm of 80 acres, not quite four miles from the city, that we will sell cheap, and take a house and lot for half its value and a mortgage back on the farm for the balance. So if you have a house that is paid for of about $2,000 value, you can get a farm without paying down a cent of cash, and go right to work this spring and make your mark as a farmer. Come and see. Yours very truly, GEO. L. & SARAH H. CARRINGTON.

CLAIM THAT LYNCH KEPT A BLIND PIG

ORFORDVILLE MAN IS NOW IN JAIL HERE.

He Was Brought In This Morning
By Constable Wesley Jones of That Village and Could Not Get Bail —Other News From About the Town.

"W. LYNCH, Orfordville, Wis.," is the last name registered at the hotel Appleby. Lynch was escorted to the county hotel this morning by Constable Jones of Orfordville. He was arrested in that village last evening, on the charge of selling liquor without a license, and his examination set for Friday before an Orfordville justice. Lynch is a stranger even in the temperance town of Orfordville, and it is claimed he refused to give the officers his true name when arrested.

PROF. E. E. LAYTON has given up his Janesville music classes to Miss Inez Stillman, one of his advanced pupils, and leaves tomorrow for his old home, Asbury Park, New Jersey. He will deliver his lecture on "The Great Composers" in Asbury Park, February 14, Prof. Sonneckalib furnishing the accompaniment. Prof. Layton expects to secure the position of organist of the New Presbyterian church at Asbury, and eventually expects to open a studio in New York City. His work here has been inspired by high motives and has been very satisfactory. Many will regret his departure.

Mrs. L. J. BARROWS desires to express her sincere gratitude to the physicians of this city for their action upon the death of her husband and expresses her thanks for the resolutions of sympathy, and hereby extends an invitation to the entire medical profession of the city to attend the memorial services to be held in the Presbyterian church, at 10:30 a. m. Sunday, January 27.

The Fortnightly club social will be held this evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Crane, 209 Center avenue, instead of Friday evening as announced in the program. The amusement committee have planned for a jolly time and it is their wish that the club should be well represented.

This is the kind of advertising that Janesville gets from Rockford and other papers because of the dire straits of the Business Men's association: "Janesville's Business Men's association may disband. Bread has sold at five cents a loaf for a long time in Janesville. Flour has continually gone down, and yet some bread dealers would charge you as much for bread as when they paid $3 a sack for flour.

This state of affairs would have continued, had we not entered the ring. Our object is to sell the best home-made bread for the least money, and we are doing it. We have the best bread, pie and cake baker in the town, and no one can compete with us. Those who have never ate any of our bread come and get a loaf. We will trust to the result.

CAN'T HOLD SHEARER FOR MEN'S DEATHS

FIFTH WARD SCHOOL DAMAGE SUIT DISMISSED.

Families of the Three Men Who Died Beneath Falling Walls Began Their Action Too Late—Demurrer to the Complaint Sustained By Judge Bennett.

James Shearer is released from all responsibility for the death of August Benewitz, John Flaherty and Patrick Hagerty beneath the walls of the Fifth ward school.

Judge Bennett's ruling was rendered today.

The Hagerty case was the only one argued but all three were the same and the decision in one case applies to both the others. It was set forth in the complaint that the three workmen were left to perform a dangerous task without being given any warning as to its nature. The work was such, it is declared that it should not have been attempted except under the direction of a competent superintendent.

In leaving the men to risk their lives without giving them due warning and instruction, the defendant was alleged to have been criminally negligent.

The complaint which was drawn by O. L. Clark, alleged further that suit would have been begun within the two years specified in the statute of limitation had it not been for the promises of aid made by the defendant.

The promise quoted was that $1,000 would be raised for each family by subscription or otherwise. In consequence of this, the plaintiffs aver, they delayed bringing suit until two years had passed.

Today's arguments were simply upon demurrer. Sutherland & Nolan appeared for Shearer and cited decisions showing that the statute of limitations was not suspended by any promises such as the defendants alleged to have been given. If a suit was to be begun the two years limit had to be regarded. Judge Bennett took the same view of the case and sustained the demurrer.

The circuit court this afternoon is engaged taking testimony in the case of John Ainsfield against F. C. Marchan, it being on attachment proceedings, the plaintiff being charged with intent to defraud his creditors.

PENNY MACHINES ARE BEATEN

Small Boys Working Old Schemes on the Candy Dispensers.

The owners of the penny-in-the slot machines about town are going to call them all in as bankruptcy stares them in the face.

The terrible small boy has been working an old device for beating the machine with a regularity that insures the breaking of the house in a given time.

Little iron washers the size of pennies have been dropped into the machines all over town of late and every washer meant a stick of gum or candy for some kid who did not have the price to get it on the square.

Some other youngsters have been trying strings to pennies and cleaning out the chocolate shelf by that means.

SCRAPER USED TO LEVEL SNOW

Street Commissioner Hanthorn Works on Streets—Walks Must Be Cleared.

Street Commissioner Hanthorn is busy with a force leveling the snow drifts.

"I wish the papers would give house occupants a gentle reminder that the law requiring them to clean the snow from sidewalks will be enforced, for I am going for every one of them who fails to clear their walks," he remarked.

Just For a Week

And just as a FUROR DEAL, we offer a very comfortable home in the Fourth ward for $450. Just think of it, FOUR HUNDRED AND FIFTY DOLLARS will buy an almost new house of three good rooms, woodshed, good well of water; nicely located, and as a fact, it would be cheap at $600. If you have $100 cash to pay down you can have this place and pay the balance $5 or $6 per month. You never saw such a chance before and you never will again to get a good little home. This chance will cease within a week whether we sell or do not sell. Come and see us about it. Yours very truly,

This was the first of two Schubert evenings, and the next meeting will be held with Miss Franc Edwards, next Tuesday evening.

ALD. F. S. WINSLOW INJURED.

Fall on a Wet Floor Sprained His Ankle in a Severe Way.

Alderman F. S. Winslow is walking with a crutch and wearing an old overshoe instead of his usual footgear, as the result of an accident. He was at the South River street store last evening when he slipped on the wet floor, severely spraining his ankle. The injury is a very painful one, and will keep him from walking at his usual gait for some time.

GAY COLT BROKE SIMMONS' ARM.

Town of Janesville Man Thrown Down By a Young Equine.

Simeon Simmons of the town of Janesville, is carrying his right arm in splints, the result of a tussle in which he was thrown down by a colt he was endeavoring to break. The bones of his arm were broken between the elbow and wrist. Dr. W. H. Judd reduced the fracture.

BRIEF LOCAL NOTES.

EVERYTHING at The Fair and the Hub is being sold at exact cost for a few days.

We will move in about a week until that time everything will be sold for just what we paid. The Fair.

ALTHOUGH the mercury is playing around zero, harbingers of spring can be seen at Bort, Bailey & Co's.

Don't forget the concert by A. P. Donahoe tomorrow evening at the Union Catholic League hall.

"BROWNING KING & Co." This label sewed in the neck of any garment means something more than an ornament. T. J. Ziegler.

WHEN we say cost, we mean just what we paid for the goods; no profit. We do this for one week, so as to have as little stock as possible to move. The Fair.

THE Burns anniversary is close at hand and it is looked forward to with great interest this year owing to the excellency of the programme prepared.

ALL the schooling in the world won't teach you how to save, but we are giving daily lessons in economy by selling some fine tailor made $12 overcoats for $6. Ziegler.

ADJUSTABLE bath tub seat, the latest improvement for a bath tub. After using no one would attempt to take a bath without this seat. Green & Allen, 6 W. Milwaukee, St. sole agents.

BEAR in mind the doubt's attraction at the Congregational church tomorrow night. The Y. M. C. A. band will give a concert from 7:30 till 8 and at 8 the lecture by Dr. A. A. Willitz will begin.

THE concert tomorrow evening at Union Catholic League hall, should be well attended, as it will be a very entertaining musical event and will be for the benefit of A. P. Donahoe, who is blind, as well as the U. C. L.

"THERE have come into our home many medicines for colds and coughs, but after using Dr. Hale's Cough Cordial we want no other and regard it the best." Rev. Matt Evans, Merrill Wis. For sale by Prentice & Evenson.

THE Bower City Rink has been newly flooded and the ice is excellent. The skating contest between Chris. Stinson and Fred Bogardus will take place tonight at 8:30. It is for $50 a side, and no small amount of interest is manifested in it.

NEXT Friday evening, Jan. 25, is the date of the Burns festival at the Light Infantry Armory. No such programme has ever been presented as the one this year. It includes some artists of recognized ability as well as some old time favorites.

You can tell by your instinct when things are right in store keeping as well as in home making. Take a quiet hour rambling through the great stacks of spring goods now arriving and you will feel that spring is surely at hand. Bort, Bailey & Co.

THE Y. M. C. A. band has been doing hard work the past year and are in most excellent condition now. The entire band of eleven pieces will be at the Congregational church tomorrow night and render a number of selections before the lecture and those who do not hear it will miss a treat.

NEAR UNTO DEATH

G. C. McLEAN LIES

THE FUNERAL OF MRS. McLEAN IS POSTPONED.

The Same Disease, Apparently That Caused Her Death Has Attacked Him and Friends Are Alarmed—Mrs. Smith and Mrs. Bigelow Are Also Quite Ill.

Almost at the point of death George C. McLean lies at his South Main street home.

In another room is the body of his wife who died yesterday morning. Under the same roof are Mrs. McLean's two daughters, Mrs. Bigelow and Mrs. Smith, both of whom are ill.

These sad circumstances have caused the postponement of the funeral of Mrs. McLean, which was to have been held today and no date can now be determined upon but the arrangements will be announced later.

Mr. McLean was taken sick last night and grew rapidly worse. The family physician, Dr. Hugh Menzies was called and stated that while the symptoms were not alarming, the family had better be summoned to the bedside. This afternoon a consultation of physicians was held and the family and the many friends of Mr. McLean were much alarmed. Mr. McLean's illness resembles pneumonia, and is apparently the same disease that caused the death of Mrs. McLean. The report at noon was that Mr. McLean was resting a trifle easier and while the best is hoped for the outcome is very uncertain.

Neither Mrs. Bigelow or Mrs. Smith are thought to be dangerously sick although both of them are quite ill.

ONE DAY'S RECORD OF DEATHS

Funeral of F. A. W. Heintze.

Rev. John Koerner conducted the funeral services of the late Frederick W. A. Heintze, which was held at the home at 1 o'clock and at St. Paul's German Lutheran church at 2 o'clock this afternoon. There was a large attendance, and at the conclusion of the services the remains were taken to Oak Hill for interment.

Mrs. W. H. Window.

Mrs. W. H. Window, formerly of this city, died at Allen Grove and was buried yesterday. She was the widow of Rev. W. H. Window of the Wisconsin Conference, and the mother of A. J. Window, formerly a clerk at the Empire drug store.

William F. Randall

The remains of William F. Randall were forwarded to Marengo, Illinois this morning, being taken from the home on Glen street at 7 o'clock. The pall bearers were S. B. Clemmons, William Winkley, Ezra Dillenbeck and Jessie C. Winslow.

Edward Thomas Sweeney.

Edward Thomas, son of Mr. and Mrs. Patrick Sweeney, 304 North street, died at 5 o'clock this morning, aged one month. The funeral will be held from St. Patrick's church tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock.

Funeral of Mrs. Crawford.

The remains of Mrs. Eunice Crawford were buried in Oak Hill this afternoon, funeral services conducted by Rev. Dr. M. G. Hodge being held at the home on South Franklin street at 2 o'clock.

Notice to Contractors and Builders.

Ardent Love.
"My young friend," said the millionaire, frowning, "you admit that you are poor and you know that my daughter is very wealthy. Would you, a pauper, marry her, knowing her to be worth a million?"
"Sir," said the young man, who was a person of intense resolution, "my affection is proof against such tests. I would marry your daughter if she were worth two million."—Chicago Record.

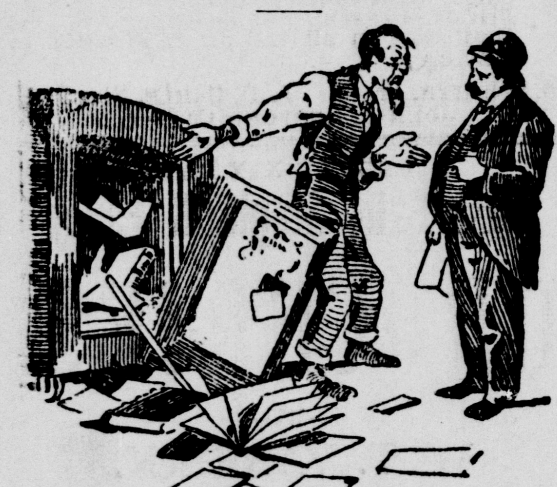

A Hint to Police Captains.
Judge Duffy—You are sentenced to the island for thirty days for being drunk and disorderly. Have you anything to say?

THE POET'S MUSE.

Are you dawned upon my vision
With your "azure orbs divine,"
In the meads and groves elysian,
I consorted with "the nine,"
Underneath the supple hickory
In the woodland would I woo
O'er the gay Terepsichore
Or the sweet Erato sue.

Then Calliope upon me
Cast the glimmer of her look,
Or was it Euterpe whom I met,
With her accents like a brook?
Grave or gay, my heart elastic
Seemed as each beguiled my view.
But it's ceased to be so plastic
Since I put my eyes on you.

Be not marble to the tender
Protestations that you hear.
Let a "yes" in soft surrender
Fall upon the poet's ear.
It is modesty that smothered
How a "no" my breast would bruise!
I'll go back on all the others
If you'll only be my muse.
—Harry Pelouze in Detroit Free Press.

A COQUETTE.

"I cannot marry my cousin," said Albert to his grandmother. "It is impossible. I know the pain I give you in making this declaration, but nevertheless if you wish Therese and I to be happy you will not insist. You know Therese, too much of a coquette just now to be marriageable! She is 20 years old. I am 25. We can both afford to wait."

"Once you have married her she will reform."

"I fear otherwise. Therese is a coquette. She will always be a coquette. Marriage will only stimulate her coquetish instinct."

"But she is in love with you, and you are in love with her, are you not? Each of you has confided in me. Love will bring more wisdom to her."

"With love on one side and the desire to flirt on the other," said Albert. "With love and the desire to be well dressed and to appear fascinating and bewitching. I think no woman can resist."

"What have you against her?" insisted her grandmother.

"What have I against her? Caprice! Love of display! Love of fine dresses, jewelry, adornment. Love of adulation and flattery, which give me a cold shudder down the back."

"You are too jealous!"

"Say rather too reasonable. Now that I'm a full fledged lawyer I have begun life in earnest. I have learned in my profession to know traits of human nature that I cannot now mistake. I have learned the secrets of seductions and betrayals, and there is nothing like the misfortunes of others to teach one to be on one's guard. Therefore I will not marry my cousin. I will wait awhile. Later, when she has been proved, and when I know that she loves me as I wish to be loved, then I shall make up my mind, but not before."

"What test do you ask for?" demanded the grandmother.

"That is my secret. Do not ask me any more questions."

It was the eve of a ball where he was to meet Therese that Albert had this conversation with Mme. de Versac.

Therese was an orphan. She lived with her grandmother and was adored by her. She was spoiled by her and had her own way in everything. A wish was a command, and everybody gave in to her.

She was decidedly pretty, with superb coloring, large, speaking eyes, rosy cheeks and fine features. Her figure was that of a Greek statue.

She had been on the watch during the conversation and waited till her cousin had left. Then she came in to her grandmother, humming airs from the opera, and spread out on the old lady's lap a mass of red roses she had bought earlier in the afternoon at the florist's.

"You will not refuse me, grandmother?" she said. "We are to go to hear 'Thais' this week at the opera. Tomorrow, with Leonide, my companion, I am going down to the Boulevard Haussmann to try on my new dress."

"You won't forget the ball the day after tomorrow?"

"Certainly not. On the contrary, I have been thinking of it a great deal and have a surprise in store for you. I shall look so pretty that you will not recognize your little Therese."

"Some new little coquetry?"

"Exactly. Some new little coquetry," replied Therese lightly, "and why not? It belongs to my age, in keeping with my position, and almost a part of my education. Am I to have only one dress, only one way of doing my hair, only one sort of jewelry to wear? What would you think of me if I were like that?"

"Oh! I always make excuses for you. I am on your side. But—but how about others, for there are others? How about Albert, for instance?"

"Albert? He loves me. He should think all I do good and beautiful."

"Are you sure of that?"

"Why should he blame a flirt? It is not for me to make sacrifices for him. He is paying court to me, and paying court to a girl involves letting her have her own way in all things. He plays his part. I play mine. I am a flirt and shall always remain one. But wait till the day after tomorrow and see if you are not proud of me!"

"Be careful," returned the grandmother, "this coquetry will ruin you."

On the day of the ball just at the hour when the festivities were to begin a young girl in a lovely white dress and with golden hair walked with Leonide into the grandmother's room.

A mass of roses nodded their heads gracefully at her waist, and the whiteness of her matchless shoulders was so pure that it almost reflected the golden shimmer of her hair.

The young face was all smiles and happiness, and the light of frivolity and coquetry flashed from the large, veiled eyes.

Mme. de Versac, lost in amazement, advanced to greet her pretty visitor with an amiable smile on her lips, when she suddenly recognized Therese.

"Gracious! Is it you?" she cried. "You have changed yourself completely. Your hair has been dyed from dark to gold! Are you going to the ball in that metamorphosis?"

"Assuredly I am. I think I look charming. You shall see what a success I shall make!"

"But suppose you do not," suggested her grandmother.

"What difference would it make? I wanted to satisfy my whim. Besides the color of my hair was a little faded, I thought, and in this golden tint there is a suggestion of gaiety which pleases me immensely."

Mme. de Versac only kept on shaking her head slowly.

"Take care, take care, my child," she repeated.

Albert waited for Therese and his grandmother at the threshold of the ballroom. He was in hope that after talking with the old lady Therese would appear dressed with simplicity and taste, without the brilliance he considered vulgar, and triumphant simply in her youth and loveliness.

But when he caught sight of her leaning on his grandmother's arm, with her hair dyed, and in a rich, showy toilet that would have been more suitable for a wealthy young married woman, his face darkened under a blush.

"Good evening, my cousin," he said to her coldly.

And after a few words of greeting had been exchanged he moved away and lost himself in the crowd.

Mme. de Versac pressed the girl's arm, and in a low voice said to her:

"Was I right? Did you not see how shocked Albert was with your frivolity?"

"I don't think so, grandmother. He will come back and ask me to dance."

But during the whole course of the evening the little coquette saw nothing of her cousin. He avoided her. When the whirling crowd of dancers brought her within his neighborhood, he moved away. He danced a great deal. He was charming and empressed to all her friends and with all the girls at the ball who were not overdressed and had not come there merely to show themselves off. He flirted with some and sat out with others. He was delightful to all.

Therese, of course, noticed all this, and affected on her side an unnatural gaiety that was intended to show how much she could enjoy herself even when Albert was not by her side.

In her heart she was sad. She left the ball early, saying she was tired and had a headache. The young coquette understood the lesson her cousin wanted to teach her.

And as the days passed away a change began to be noticeable in her toilets and finally in the color of her hair. The tint grew softer and began gradually to give way again to the natural color.

Was it the effect of love deceived and of a lost lover? Therese had sacrificed her golden hair and her exaggerated dresses. She was gradually becoming the excellent little manager that moralists love to praise.

She read good books, she knitted, she did embroidery work and engaged in such reasonable conversation with the grandmother that the old lady noticed with pleasure and surprise the change that had taken place in her protégée.

The grandmother was very happy over the transformation of her beautiful Therese. She wrote to her grandson to say that she had changed.

She wrote that she had never known so reasonable a girl, so simple, natural, reserved and with such simple tastes. The best thing he could do was to come and see her. He would see no more golden hair and no more exaggerated and showy costumes. He would find a girl who had sacrificed her coquetry to her love, and a girl who was ready to love him with all her heart.

She also said in her letter that if this were the test he had wished to put the girl to she had come through it victoriously.

Albert did not wait to be told twice. He had never forgotten his love for her, and he came to Mme. de Versac with confidence and joy. When he entered the room, he saw Therese.

She rose to meet him lovingly, with her hands outstretched. She let her head fall with a murmur of pleasure on his shoulder, and as he put his arm around her supple waist he pressed a loving kiss on her parted lips.

"Albert!"

"Therese!"

"You still love me?" she whispered.

"Yes, I love you! I love you more than ever, more than formerly, because your love for me is stronger than your coquetry. Now I have confidence in you. You were pretty, very pretty, with your fine dark hair. In order to move with the fashion and to satisfy your coquetish fancy you made your hair golden. From that moment I have kept away from you. Now that you have become yourself again I give you back my heart. I love you more than ever. When your hair turns golden again, I shall know that you no longer love me."

"It never will," she cried, with passion.

"Never!" he asked in a low voice.

Alas, the word "never" has no meaning for the majority of womankind.

Two years later Therese was to be seen driving daily in the Bois with a mass of golden hair on the top of her head. But Albert was not by her side!—From the French.

Do It Up? Thanks.

We thought we could suit or rather cloak you. It was the second garment Mrs. Smith looked at. Being a good judge of values and having her mind made up as to about what style of a cloak she wanted, it was an easy matter for Mrs. Smith to decide quickly. She paid us $15 for a $25 coat and went away satisfied that we were doing more than we advertised to do.

The Real True

State of Thing is:

Every winter garment in our stock has got to go at some, any price that will sell it.

Cloaks and Capes

are going fast, each day our stock grows perceptibly less.

The High Quality of our Cloaks recommends them.

The Low Figures

make them go. Women, Misses, Children's, Infants we have cloaks for all of them.

About 8 Astrakhan Sacques left,
About 11 Fur Capes left.
About 21 Excellent Plush Sacques left.
About 17 Cloth Capes left.
About 150 Women's Cloaks left.
About 139 Misses and Children's Cloaks left.

Come in and pick one out.

An Income Tax Removal

All the power of this business finally reaches single definite point. The Reduction of Prices. Middlemen's profits and various intermediate costs make a heavy tax on incomes. Our methods eliminate them and remove that tax.

Perhaps you are not aware how great is this service. Study the goods and the prices presented here daily and the case will explain.
